

BPL is a bad idea at this time, unless the power companied can assure the FCC that their transmitting internet signals over power wiring will not interfere with emergency radio transmissions. As a member of the local fire department, i would not like to be in the position of not being able to use my radio, because of interference. Look what happened at the WTC when the FDNY could not reach some of it's members because of faulty communications. A really bad idea at this time!!!!!!!!!!!!
